RED SKY SPELLS DANGER

By Patrick Brown

YEAR 11

As Hurricane Ophelia battered southern Ireland and caused untold damage across the Irish Sea, the people of Portsmouth were greeted to the unsettling sight of the sky turning a deep red and the sun blazing 'like something out of Blade Runner 2049'. Experts believe this was as a result of Saharan dust being swirled up by the storm on its journey and causing the deep red hue to permeate the atmosphere. CONT PG.2

APOCALYPTIC

Many believed that it was linked to the latest claims of an impending apocalypse, as some had predicted that the world would end on Oct 15th after a 'secret planet' called Nibiru would clash with the Earth.

However, Ophelia itself had much more far reaching consequences, with untold damage and several deaths left in its wake.

By the time the hurricane reached British shores it had been downgraded to a 'storm', but it still caused high winds and wet weather for those on its trail. The unsettled conditions are due to continue this weekend with big waves and high winds expected for the Great South Run on Sunday.

"I need to Ring King...."

ITS BACK! By popular demand we have brought back our problem page to help you with burning issues. This year we bring a little eastern European insight with our perfect prefect KINGA JEZIOR waiting for your calls.....

Hi Kinga, can't attend all the revision sessions. What should I do?

You may find that there are a lot of revision sessions you have to attend but it is for the best and so you can get the best grades possible in your GCSEs and it is better to have more revision than less. If you can't attend one of the sessions be sure to speak to your teacher so she can tell you what to revise the most for your GCSEs so you don't revise the wrong information. However, if you just can't be bothered to attend the sessions because you are too tired you need to try and attend as many as possible because the teachers just want the best for you.

Hi Kinga, I'm struggling with the homework booklets. Can you help?

The homework booklets may seem like a lot of hard work as you have to spend 2-3 hours on each piece but it is a very good and organized way to have all your homework in as you can see when each homework is due in therefore you can try and do all your homework's early so when it comes closer to the due date you don't have to worry about handing it in late and getting a detention because you haven't done the work. If you are struggling with anything in the booklet you can more than welcome to go and ask the teachers but do not ask them on the due date or the day before because you should have had the homework done by then.

Hi Kinga, I feel like my home life is impacting school. What should I do?

If you are having family problems at home it can affect your school because sometimes things get too much and you can't stop thinking about it. If that is the case you have to speak to a teacher or Fiona because they will help you sort things out and try and get your mind of it. Also, if you are not paying attention and start falling behind your teachers will get concerned and you will have to tell them the truth in the end and you don't want to be getting in trouble for not concentrating. Remember speak to someone you trust and they will help you out

Oscar Nominated

LUSCIOUS LOCKED HEAD BOY Oscar 'Shakey' Lake trawls through the record collections of the rich and famous.

You can tell a lot about someone from the music that they listen to, and when you ask someone what their idea of the ideal album is the answer can be surprising. This week, what does Mr Wilkinson like to listen to....

"Bohemian Rhapsody" - Queen

This choice is must have, and is one of the groundbreaking songs ever written with over 180 different parts mixed in the final song.

"Welcome to the Black Parade" - My Chemical Romance

A more modern choice, Black Parade is the iconic pop punk song.

"Music" - John Miles

Music's catchy synth riffs are juxtaposed with piano and violins, all to a $\frac{7}{8}$ time signature.

"Moving" - Supergrass

Britpop group Supergrass' Moving uses syncopated guitar strumming and a chorus that feels almost like disco music.

"Mr Blue Sky" - Electric Light Orchestra

The much loved Electric Light Orchestra hit is an instantly recognisable art rock song, which makes use of vocoders and synths for an almost robotic sound.

"Breakfast at Tiffany's" - Deep Blue Something

The pop hit that people love to hate, the lack of depth is made up for by the catchy melody.

"The Show Must Go On" - Queen

Queen's dramatic ballad is well known as the song about Queen vocalist Freddie Mercury dying of AIDS.

"Graffiti on the Train" - Stereophonics

Although it never found much commercial success, Graffiti on the train is the title song of Stereophonics eighth album.

Album

"Echo, Silence, Patience and Grace" - Foo Fighters

The Foo Fighter's sixth album is a fairly consistent set of songs, and is very musical with interesting time signatures and a combination of styles of rock, from grunge to acoustic.

DISGRACEFUL

More than 40 accusations of harassment (and in some cases assault) have been filed against movie titan Harvey Weinstein.

Here is a summary of the events so far:

Thursday 5 October

The New York Times publishes a story detailing decades of harassment against Harvey Weinstein. Actresses Rose McGowan and Ashley Judd are among the women who have come forward.

Friday 6 October

Brie Larson and Lena Dunham are among those to react to the allegations in the article, praising the bravery of those who have come forward.

Saturday 7 October

Weinstein's lawyer Lisa Bloom announces her resignation, saying she understands that "Mr Weinstein and his board are moving toward an agreement".

Sunday 8 October

It is announced that Harvey Weinstein has been sacked by the board of his company, with immediate effect.

Monday 9 October

British actress Romola Garai tells the Guardian that she felt "violated" when Weinstein auditioned her as an 18-year-old.

Tuesday 10 October

Allegations from 13 more women are published in the New Yorker magazine, which Weinstein strongly denies.

This horrifying case just goes to show that nobody should feel shame if somebody in power over them has abused their position.

FASHION FACE OFF

This week its God's very own face of fashion

Chaplain Fiona Jackson

LAUREN COX AND AMY DAPSON, YR11

Who is your fashion icon? I personally don't have a fashion icon. I like to look at a range of things, like magazines to see what I like and what suits Fiona.

What is your go-to look? I love wearing dresses and little boots. I also enjoy a matching handbag and wearing macs.

What is your go-to party look? I don't go to many parties, but at special occasions such as weddings or family events, I like colourful dresses, high heels and matching handbags.

What is your favourite shop? I love Zara, French Connection and Coast.

What trends were popular when you were younger? All in one jumpsuits. I've always loved dresses, so I would wear them when I was younger. I also had my hair curled (and flicked).

What advice would you give to any aspiring fashionistas? Wear what suits you and what you feel good in. YOU can make the fashion!

'Be colourful, be who you are and you can be a shining star'

M.K. ? DONE

Kenny Jackett made one change from the side that won at Gillingham the previous week. Christian Burgess had recovered from a calf injury to start in defence and make his 100th appearance for the club, allowing Hawkins to move to a more natural position up front.

The visitors had an early chance when Osman Sow got past Matt Clarke, only for the centre back to recover well and win the ball back.

Kyle Bennett burst free down the right and Kennedy just got a touch to his cross to take the ball away from the advancing Lowe.

But the deadlock was broken on 14 minutes and Kennedy had a large part to play in giving the hosts the lead. He intercepted a sloppy pass from Ethan Ebanks Landell and burst past the Dons defender before teeing-up HAWKINS for a powerful finish into the roof of the net.

14 Minutes: Pompey 1 MK dons 0

Lee Nicholls was looking nervous between the MK Dons sticks and was perhaps lucky to win a free-kick after failing to hold Dion Donohue's corner.

He then made a hash of dealing with Lowe's centre and would have been relieved to see no Pompey player nearby to take advantage. MK Dons finally threatened late in the half and it took a fine challenge from Clarke to deny Sow after the striker burst through on goal.

But there was still time for Pompey to double their lead due to the interval, as a persistent Lowe was able to cut the ball back for HAWKINS to turn home from close range.

Half Time: Pompey 2 MK Dons 0

A Kennedy corner caused issues for the visitors just after the restart, but they were eventually able to scramble the ball clear. Then straight up the other end Bennett then missed another decent chance to put the result beyond doubt, firing wide when Lowe's centre somehow found its way to his feet.

Ed Upson then whipped a free-kick into a crowded box and McGee did well to find his way through the bodies and punch clear.

And Pompey saw out the final few minutes with relative ease to secure all three points on the sunny south coast.

Attendance: 17,608 (580 away fans)

INCONSISTENT

POMPEY continue to be consistently inconsistent following their midweek loss to Doncaster. The home side were severely depleted through injury and suspension but still managed to go 2-0 up in the first five minutes at Pompey struggled to settle.

A bizarre own goal in which Donny keeper let a back pass slip underneath his foot wasn't enough to help Pompey salvage a point and keeps them just outside the play offs.

The result came on the back of the most convincing performance of the season at the weekend as MK Dons were soundly beaten at Fratton park. Two goals from Ollie Hawkins put MK to the sword.
